THE GREAT STORM.

The Atlantic Coast Strewn with Wrecks of Vessels

Many More in Great Danger--Life Loss Heavy.

Coast Resorts Devastated by the Wild Waves.

Fears Felt for Inhabitants Cut Off from the Main Land.

The Eastern Storm.

New York, September 11.—The wind has subsided somewhat but the skies are still black and a light rain is falling. The only transatlantic steamer which arrived up to nine o'clock this morning was the California City. The New York and the Teutonic, both due yesterday, have not been sighted. Other steamers due to day are the Wisconsin, State of Georgia and Hammonia. The passengers on all the steamers will undoubtedly have interesting tales to tell, as they must have encountered the fiercest of the gale. Reports from along the Jersey shore show wrecks everywhere, there being sixteen between Barnegat light and Sandy Hook. The water along East and North river is not so high this morning as at flood tide yesterday, but many cellars and basements are still flooded and business at the docks and along the water front is still being carried on under great difficulty.

New York, September 11.—Vessels at anchor along South street piers have the appearance of having passed through a cyclone. The rigging of many is torn into shreds, and spars and masts are dismantled, while the waves beat with great fury against the vessels' sides, even as they lay at their piers. Telegraph wires between here and Sandy Hook are still down, consequently the greatest uneasiness is felt at the maritime exchange for the safety of vessels in the offing. In a roundabout way it was learned that only two vessels had come up to Quarantine since last night. They were the new Morgan line steamer Finner from New Orleans and the Hamburg Steamship company's California. The Finner was detained twelve hours outside the pier by rough water. The vessel encountered a hurricane on the 9th inst. While there was no serious damage sustained things on board were made lively and the decks were leaked fore and aft. The California has on board a big load of emigrants.

The new German steamer Kaiser Wilhelm, which left her dock at Hoboken yesterday, was obliged to lay to this side of Quarantine over night. The vessel cleared out to sea at 8 o'clock this morning. The regular weekly fleet of transatlantic steamers followed soon after. Private advices from the quarters of health officers down the bay show storm at Quarantine is continuing with great fury. The wind is blowing a heavy gale, and the seas washed over the surrounding walls. Along the Battery wall the waves dashed far into the park. The iron railing surrounding the wall alongside the dock commissioners' building at pier "A" was carried away, while the docks at Castle Garden were being completely washed. Custom house quarters at the end of Emigrant dock are completely filled with water, and the landing agent's office was submerged. The rainfall this morning was .61 of an inch.

Lewes, Del., September 11.—There are seventeen vessels in here with a full crew or more fast drawing upon the breakers. The crews of sixteen of the wrecked vessels are now at the Virginia hotel, being cared for. A three masted schooner is ashore just outside the inner bay and going to pieces, with a crew of ten men clinging to the rigging. Lines which the life-saving crew of ten men shot over tangled in such a manner as to make it impossible to send out a car. No human power can save the sailors. If the wind continues blowing as now for ten hours not a single sail of the sixty remaining in the harbor will be afloat. Both wooden piers have been destroyed.

New York, September 11.—The steamship California, from Hamburg, which arrived at 9 a. m. Sept. 9th, encountered a hurricane from the west, shifting to the north and working to the east and northeast off George's banks it blew with terrific force from the east, northeast. Continuing to port, off the bar she had the greatest difficulty in getting a pilot on board. Their boat upset and the pilot and three men were thrown into the raging sea. They were rescued when almost exhausted.

Somers Point, N. J., September 11.—Communication has been established between Atlantic City and the mainland by means of yachts and steamers. A frightful state of affairs is shown. The storm is still raging with unabated fury, and added to the horror of wind and waves is that of fire. The steamer brought news that a fire is raging in Atlantic City, and houses alongside the burning buildings are being demolished to prevent a general conflagration.

Additional intelligence is to the effect that one of the largest hotels at the inlet was this morning destroyed by waves, together with several cottages. At last reports the water at Atlantic City was as high as at any time during the storm.

Longport, several miles south of Atlantic City, is entirely cut off from communication with the shore. Anglesea and Ocean City are all right. A number of houses are reported washed away at Holly Beach. The captain of a yacht arrived at 1:30 and reports the Continental hotel at Sea Isle City has been undermined by waves and entirely destroyed. There is great anxiety to hear from Sea Isle City, as reports are to the effect that the city has been wiped out. A train load of passengers are detained at Grassy Island, between Anglesea and Holly Beach. They have been there 48 hours. [illegible] the way to them.

Salisbury, Md., September 11.—Reports of a startling character are coming in of the storm at Ocean City, Md., though the telegraph office there is unoccupied. Large columns supporting the porches at the hotels and cottages are washed away, doors and windows are broken down and furniture is floating about the beach. Seas last night were breaking to the second story of the Atlantic hotel and Congress Hall, and huge waves were running through the hotels six feet deep. Furniture is floating in the surf. There is not a vestige of a bath house on the beach. The life saving station was [illegible] and the crew were [illegible]

CORPORAL TANNER OUT

The Commissioner [illegible] Hard on the Rebels.

Were in Harmony [illegible] Action Necessary.

Who to Be the Chief Pension Question.

Pensioners Pursuing the Claim Candidates for the Place.

[illegible]

New York, September 11.—A Washington special says: [illegible] Secretary Noble said [illegible] today.

A special to a morning paper from President Harrison's friends yesterday that Corporal Tanner would have to go out of the pension office. He said he was reluctant to part with him on account of the [illegible] he would place him in [illegible]. The authorities have given the commissioner at the Milwaukee encampment [illegible] it was about the [illegible] to keep him. The president said he had repeatedly talked to Commissioner Tanner and urged him to give his tongue less exercise, but that everywhere he went, and upon the slightest provocation, he put his foot in it. It is understood the commissioner's resignation is in the hands of the president, and his services will be dispensed of within a few days. For two days or more it has simply been a question of how to drop Tanner without offending the soldiers. The statement made in dispatches from this city to the effect that Tanner was to be given place of Colonel Bonesteel, receiver of the treasury, is without foundation. Bonesteel will retire from his position, but it will not be tendered to Corporal Tanner.

Washington, September 11.—The commissioner was absent from his desk of duty this morning, Deputy Commissioner Smith acting as commissioner. Tanner was expected at the office, it is said, at noon, but at 1 o'clock he had not returned. It is believed by some that he has been removed, by others that he has been temporarily suspended until the result of investigations of the commission examining into affairs of the pension office is announced. It is impossible to find out exactly the cause of the case. That his resignation has been requested or tendered, however, is positively denied. Secretary Noble declined to say anything on the subject.

Washington, September 11.—Secretary Noble, Commissioner Tanner and Marshal Randall are now in consultation with the president, presumably in relation to the case of Tanner.

New York, September 11.—Washington special to the Post: Tanner is out. Official notice that his commission will no longer be recognized has been given by the secretary, who is now in close confidence with Senator Hiscock. The latter is understood to be pushing Major Peel of Syracuse for the commissioner's slip. General Brown of Ohio is being urged for the place and will probably get it.

Washington, September 11.—The crisis in the relations between Secretary Noble and Pension Commissioner Tanner, which, according to the former, has been reached to-day, continues without a settlement at a late hour to-night. Upon the best authority it may be said that the commissioner has not been removed nor has his resignation been requested by the president. The same authority says it has been patent for some time that serious differences have arisen between Secretary Noble and Commissioner Tanner over questions concerning the administration of the pension bureau but not in any wise affecting the commissioner's personal character in the sense of imputing any corruption in his acts. This same authority conceded that these matters related principally to the rating of pensions of employes and officials of the bureau and others, and to certain statements credited to the commissioner in interviews and speeches. That is the condition of affairs to-night, but when the authority quoted was asked if it would probably remain so, he was not in a position to answer that he had no intention of entering the field of prophecy.

The air has been full of surmises and rumors all day respecting the case of Commissioner Tanner, and the unanimous opinion is that a change is imminent. The commissioner has not been at the office to-day. He spent most of the afternoon at the White house in consultation with the president and Secretary Noble. The secretary is reported to have said the president must decide which one of the two he will retain in his present position, the commissioner or himself, but he will not talk of the matter to newspaper people and the commissioner at this time is equally non-communicative. Since yesterday the position of the case has been quite settled, viz: the president and Secretary Noble have had a serious difference with the president, and Secretary Noble, who is generally accepted as the aggressor, has had many hearings, but what is the result of them all has not been declared.

It is generally believed the principal topic of discussion at these conferences was what to do with Tanner in such a manner shall be made in the office of commissioner of pensions. Two suggestions have been discussed in this connection, outside of offering the United States marshal for the southern district of New York and assistant treasurer. The first, it is said, Commissioner Tanner can have if he leaves the pension bureau. As to the second office the president is quoted as saying he had no intention of removing General Rosecrans, receiver of the treasury, and the president was ignorant until yesterday of the fact that Rosecrans is drawing two salaries from the government, one as receiver of the treasury and one as retired brigadier general. The gentleman who mentioned this to him says the president was much surprised at learning it. Tanner is reported as being very reluctant to return to Brooklyn. With rumors of a change has come a discussion of the possible successor to Commissioner Tanner. Senator Hiscock is credited with pushing the claims of ex-Pension Agent Peale of Syracuse for the place. Ex-Governor Foster of Ohio, who [illegible] is mentioned from overwork and is taking a day of rest.

Relations with Canada.

Boston, September 11.—The United States senate committee on relations with Canada began its work in this city today. Representative Mason of Illinois and he did not think it politic for the United States and Canada to maintain an army of revenue officers on each side of a line 3000 miles long. If Canada would conform her protective tariff to ours and impose just a nominal duty on the only difficulty would be removed. The international traffic may be considered most subject to American railroads, diverting business away to parallel lines in Canada. The law should be repealed. It is an outrageous interference with private rights. If not repealed something must be done to protect our railroads from Canadian competition.

President Square and S. P. Hibbard of the chamber of commerce believed in annexation as the best solution of the problem. A. Hardy and B. F. Dwinnell Boston were in favor of reciprocity, the latter saying Canada had much to gain in return, as 90 per cent of the fish brought to American ports by American vessels were stolen from within the three mile limit, and American fishermen must leave Canadian bait.

Pension Day.

Washington, September 11.—A statement issued by the pension bureau says: In July and August there were advanced to pension agents on requisitions $31,700,000, while the amount disbursed by agents in the same months was $31,495,000. More than half these disbursements were in payment of cases allowed during the preceding fiscal year and not paid then because of deficiency in the appropriation, making it necessary to pay these claims out of the appropriation for the fiscal year '90. This accounts in every particular for the apparent increase in the payment of pensions during July and August '89.

Wyoming's Constitution.

Cheyenne, September 11.—The morning session of the constitutional convention was devoted to the usual presentation of resolutions for reference to committees. Several resolutions looked to the fixing of certain salaries of public officials, all fees accruing to the treasury. Morgan, of Laramie, presented a resolution favoring fifteen senators and thirty representatives, the former to serve four, the latter two years. No city or county to have more than one fourth of the membership of the senate until that body contains twenty four members and never more than one sixth. The afternoon was spent in committee of the whole without accomplishing anything practical.

Lynching.

Raleigh, N. C., September 11.—A mob of a hundred men broke open the jail at Morgantown at 2 o'clock this morning, took out Franklin Stock, a white man, and David Boone, negro, and hanged them. Stock ambushed Robert Parker, a student at the college, who killed Stock's brother some months back, and Boone shot and killed a man at a camp meeting. The people of Morgantown propose to ferret out the ringleaders and punish them.

Base Ball.

New York, September 11.—So far the St. Louis American association base ball club seems to be getting the worst of the recent Brooklyn squabble. The president of the American association has sent a letter to all clubs notifying them to retain all percentage of receipts due said St. Louis club and report the amount to him.

Chicago, September 11.—No games to day, all postponed on account of rain.

[illegible] Action.

Kansas City, September 11.—In his recent charge to the grand jury, Judge White called attention to the existence of a new state law prohibiting marriage between whites and blacks. The first arrest under the law was made to day, it being that of Charles Hodgson and a colored woman to whom he was married September 6th. Miscegenation has been quite common in this city, and a large number of arrests are expected to follow.

P. O. S. A. Election.

Denver, September 11.—At to day's session of the state Patriotic Order Sons of America, the following officers were elected: President, Henri R. Foster, Denver; vice president, Frank J. Hood, Georgetown; master of forms and ceremonies, James P. Hadley, Denver; treasurer, Charles Fielding, Leadville; marshal, Frank W. Smith, Breckenridge; sergeant at arms, J. S. Meyer, Ouray. No other business of importance was transacted.

Lost in the Storm.

New Haven, Conn., September 11.—Just before the storm broke Monday afternoon Rev. C. A. Rogers, George M. Harford, Jacob Smith and Captain Dan Craft, of Norfolk, left that place in a boat for Long Island. It was blowing hard and it is feared they were lost. Telegrams to Long Island have failed to find them.

[illegible] of Veterans.

Paterson, N. J., September 11.—The national encampment of the Sons of Veterans this afternoon [illegible] discharge of Post Commander in Chief Payne of Ohio. The report of the adjutant general shows that the organization gained 1,000 members during the past year.

Western Union Earnings.

New York, September 11.—Western Union directors to day declared a regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent. The statement for the quarter ending September 30 estimates the net revenue at $1,750,000, the largest in years, and leaves a surplus after paying dividends of $462,813. The total surplus is $9,074,016.

Manitou is situated in a valley and surrounded on all sides by mountains, is sheltered from storms dust and wind, to which the resorts are subject. It is the most delightful winter residence in Colorado. By actual observation it is warmer in winter than either Denver or Colorado Springs. The man who tells you different never spent a winter in Manitou and draws on a cold imagination. The springs for which Colorado Springs is named are located in the heart of Manitou.

PARRISH'S ADDITION!

Only 3 Blocks from Cascade Avenue!
Only 3 Blocks from The Antlers Hotel!
Only 4½ Blocks from Post Office!

THE STREETS IN PARRISH'S ADDITION

Are 100 to 140 feet in width. THE ALLEYS are all 20 feet wide. There are no 60 or 80 feet streets, and narrow, 10-feet alleys, such as are found in other loudly advertised "Additions," with high sounding titles, where you pay high prices for lots, without duly considering that you are throwing away your money.

In the Alley Behind Every Lot in Parrish's Addition

There is a 3-inch Water Pipe, connected at Chestnut street with a 16-inch main the Largest in the City's System. THE MAIN CITY DITCH, taking pure, clear water from the Fountain, runs just back of PARRISH'S ADDITION, and within a stone's throw of it.

YOU ARE SURE TO GET WATER

(Both from Pipes and Ditch) in PARRISH'S ADDITION if there is any water in the Fountain, even if other parts of the city are suffering from scarcity of the precious fluid.

REMEMBER THE FOREGOING, and then, when I tell you I will sell you a First-Class

LOT IN PARRISH'S ADDITION FOR $350

To $1,000 a full size lot 50 by 190 feet do not hesitate a moment about buying. You can buy two lots on a corner, and erect pretty little cottages across them, giving each cottage a neat, pretty little yard, and readily rent them, owing to the location, etc.

To Pay You 25 to 35 Per Cent Per Annum on the Entire Investment.

WHERE CAN YOU DO THIS ELSEWHERE?

The Street Car Line Runs Through PARRISH'S ADDITION, from East to West, and will doubtless soon be extended to the North, past the "Mesa Road," up to THE ROCK ISLAND SHOPS. Lots on sale on Terms to Suit Buyers, if possible.

I AM ALSO SELLING

LOTS IN CALVERT HEIGHTS!

John L. Sullivan's offer to go to congress will remain open a few days longer. The intelligent portion of B[illegible]'s population does not approve of John's aspirations, but, as the St. Louis Globe-Democrat remarks, he does not ask for a republican majority.

Ex-President Legitime, of Hayti, turned up in New York on his way to France in good health and not very good spirits. He was careful to state to a newspaper reporter that he left his native land because he did not desire further bloodshed. He probably was referring to his own blood.

The publishers of St. Nicholas announce that that popular children's magazine is to be enlarged, beginning with the new volume, which [illegible] with November, 1889, and that a new and clearer type will be adopted. Four important serial stories by four well known American authors will be given during the [illegible] year.

The Atlanta Constitution thinks that General Mahone can have neither virtue nor honesty because he was a confederate and has been a republican. Down where the Constitution lives out the war and its opinions to an intellectual and enlightened circle this change may be considered a crime, but there are certain benighted regions where that [illegible] on the part of the little Virginia statesman and state [illegible] is privately regarded as one of the [illegible] acts of his life.

Hon. William A. Wallace [illegible] some interesting [illegible] ious while talking to a Philadelphia [illegible] one day last week. Among other things he asked: "Are we the d[illegible] of the future, or the dupes of the past?" The answer is too [illegible]. Any man who heard it would have told the speaker that they were distinctly the [illegible] of the past, and not a very brilliant [illegible] at that. Mr Frank R. Stockton has written a new and characteristic story called "The Merry Chanter." It will begin in the November Century and run through four months. The story takes its name from a song which started from a Mississippi port on a peculiar cruise. The owners, a young married couple, are on board, and the voyage is conducted and manned by four village captains of unusual experience. Mr. Dana Gibson will illustrate it. The November number is also to contain a new story by Mark Twain. During the coming volume The Century is to have an illustrated series of articles on the French life of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, including pen portraits of many of the [illegible] and a detailed account of the organization and composition of [illegible] historical salons. A great number of interesting portraits will be given with the series.

There is no doubt that he has always been slavish in his desire to serve his comrades of the army but he has by his reckless and impulsive course [illegible] their cause more harm than good. There will be few people to be found who doubt the commissioner's personal honesty, but the verdict that he has been one of the most indiscreet men who ever held a high public office will be [illegible] his loose tongue, controlled as it was entirely by his sympathies, has always been inclined to do the pension system a great deal of harm. Tanner's liberal policy toward the soldiers is commendable, but he has proved by his actions that he is not the right type of man to hold the office of pensions commissioner. He will always be remembered as the man whose worst fault was that he talked too much.

I most heartily agree with "Citizen" in his letter of this morning on the dog question, and earnestly beg all owners of dogs that are [illegible] of the backlog habit to keep their animals off the streets at night. In company, I doubt not, with many another light sleeper, I am often kept awake the entire night by the howling and barking of these marauders. SAN FRANCISCO, September 11.—The fight between Killen and Joe McAuliffe at the Golden Gate Athletic club to night was won by McAuliffe in the seventh round. McAuliffe weighed about [illegible] pounds and was seconded by Paddy Ryan and Con Riordan. Killen weighed 185; seconded by Prof. Anderson and Dave Campbell.

[illegible] called at 9:30. Both [illegible] feinted with the left, and landed short. Killen guarded his [illegible] well, and McAuliffe found no opening. McAuliffe got the first blow, a left hander on the ribs, and after some feinting a right hander on the jaw.

Second round. Exchanges were fast and about even. McAuliffe landed a hard right hander on Pat's ear.

Third—McAuliffe in this round made two hard [illegible] Killen [illegible] McAuliffe sending him about the head. In the fourth little was done. In the fifth McAuliffe drove Killen into his corner, upper-cutting him. Killen returned with a rush but McAuliffe clinched. In a force left hand swing, which the latter cleverly avoided, Killen went heavily onto his hands. The round ended with a blow that dazed Killen, but McAuliffe did not follow his advantage.

Sixth—McAuliffe drove Killen around the ring, guarding himself. Killen made a few fruitless rushes, and McAuliffe hit him on the ear, sending him to the floor.

In the seventh round McAuliffe rushed Killen against the ropes and the latter bent down still holding to the ropes. While in this position McAuliffe upper cut with his left. Killen fell on his knees. Immediately the room was in a tumult. Killen's seconds and friends leaped to their feet with cries of foul. Killen remained down till ten seconds had expired. It was some minutes ere order was restored and the referee gave his decision, which was that Killen was not down when McAuliffe struck him. The latter was declared the winner. McAuliffe drew the only blood.

Stock Market

NEW YORK, September 11.—The stock market was quiet and irregular during the forenoon, but became more active and positively strong later in the day. The news was of a negative character and the disposition was to await the result of the St Paul meeting. The appearance of some of the larger operators upon the bull side later put new life into speculation, and the market finally closed active and strong at the best prices of the day.

[illegible] Wharfingers Yield

LONDON, September 11.—Several more wharfingers have conceded the demands of the strikers. Nearly a thousand men resumed work this morning. The strikers are resolute. Their pickets display greater activity, and every man prevents a new man from proceeding to the docks.

LONDON, September 11.—Further contributions for the relief of strikers have been received from Australia. The strike committee has nearly 12,000 pounds on hand. The union has sent a request to Australia to refuse to unload vessels from London loaded by "blacklegs." Manning has addressed a letter to the directors of the dock companies. A reply is expected to morrow. The docks at Liverpool are [illegible] active. Many vessels are going to the Mersey in preference to the Thames. At midnight it is believed the dock directors and shippers discussed two schemes, first for the payment of heavier dues and second for the direct employment of dockmen by the shippers. The latter subject is a thorny one, and is likely to lead to a protracted discussion.

Murder by Regulators

LAFAYETTE, La., September 11.—A brutal murder was committed on the Abbeville road Monday night. Dr. R. J. Cormier, aged 60, was whipped by regulators [illegible] months ago and ordered to leave. He failed to obey. Monday night thirty regulators surrounded the house and knocked in the door. Cormier fired, killing John Whiteman and fled. He was pursued by one of the regulators who killed him in a most brutal manner. They also cut the throat of his daughter, aged 15. The coroner's jury was unable to fix the crime on any one. Before killing Cormier and his daughter the regulators flogged two other women with severity.

Outbreak of Geysers

MAMMOTH HOT SPRINGS, Yellowstone Park, September 11.—During the past 24 hours there have been great convulsions of nature, and the subterranean commotion was followed by tremendous explosions of gas and steam in the upper Geyser basin. As the result all the system is in active outbreak, the large geysers being especially demonstrative. The "Giant" and "Giantess" are in furious activity, as are many others which have long lain dormant and were supposed to have been extinct. Scientists explain that all of this phenomenal outburst is directly traceable to and connected with the atmospheric and submarine demonstrations of the great storm that prevailed along the Atlantic coast simultaneously yesterday.

[illegible]

KANSAS CITY, September 11.—The senate dressed beef committee after a short session this morning adjourned to meet at the call of the chairman. Several railroad men testified that no special rates had been made to packers. Several retail butchers testified. From their testimony the committee gleaned the information that in selling meats to the consumer after purchasing from the packers, the butcher makes a profit of about 88 85 per cent.

BRUSSELS, September 11.—Mouvement Geographique states that Henry M. Stanley is marching toward Mombassa, after fighting his way through the hostile country of the Umjero and Uganda tribes and conquering the natives. He has, the paper says, established the authority of the British East Africa company over the country from the Upper Nile to the east coast. The paper declares it doubtful if Emin Pasha, to whose relief the Stanley expedition was originally sent, is accompanying Stanley to the coast.

Flood In Texas

DALLAS, Texas, September 11.—Dispatches to night to the News from all sections of northwestern Texas indicate general damage to crops and property and delay of traffic from floods occasioned by rains which have fallen incessantly in that territory during the past week. There is scarcely a railroad that is not obstructed by bridges being washed away, and some points have been cut off from outer communication for forty eight hours. The damage will be large. The rain shows no signs of abating.

Hunting Jurors.

CHICAGO, September 11.—The Cronin jury hunt continued to-day. Little progress. Court experts for the defense will be allowed to examine bloodstains and other incriminate evidence in the presence of experts for the state.

No jurors had been secured up to the hour of adjournment.

EX-ATTORNEY GENERAL GARLAND'S PRIVILEGES AS A SPORTSMAN

The Willards, the Best Real Estate Owners in Washington, and Their Liabilities. Mr. W. [illegible] Defines Improvement Society of Other Days

[Special Correspondence.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Ex-Attorney General Garland is a great sportsman. He was [illegible] taken in the [illegible] and spent a [illegible] on Pleasant Hill Park. In connection with the hunting proposition the former attorney general has just had a great experience. Having performed some legal services for the state of Arkansas he put in a bill of $2,500 for them and this bill came up in the legislature, where a personal application was opposed. He had a hard fight. But unexpected opposition appeared. A member of the old granger movement of the legislature put there by [illegible] got wind and proved such a fine fish [illegible]

"I don't know about the thing of paying Garland $2,500 for 'tendin' to a state law suit," said one. "Pears to me that's a pretty steep bill, even if he is a great lawyer."

"So—so to me, too," chimed in another. "All that Garland is he has been [illegible] by the state of Arkansas, an' it don't just the right thing for him to charge so big a bill for legal services."

"That's so," echoed a third member. "Garland has left the state, and only comes out here to hunt and have a good time. His home is in Washington, and I'm afraid he isn't one of us any more."

Thus the [illegible] ran on, and as member after member joined in the views the outlook for Mr. Garland's bill became very dark, indeed. Finally some of the attorney's friends came to the rescue. They begged the old farts to remember that Garland had worked hard for the state, and was entitled to his pay like any other laborer.

"Garland is a good fellow," they declared, "and you ought to be willing to do a thing for him, even if you can't pay him the full amount of his bill."

Then the old grangers put their heads together again. They still persisted in declaring the bill excessive, but admitted Garland was a good fellow and that something ought to be done for him.

"I'll tell you what we'll be willing to do," said a leading granger, finally. "We don't want to be hard on Garland, and are willing to help him out. He is very fond of coming down here and hunting deer with dogs. Now, we don't like to be hunting deer with dogs. When we go after deer we still hunt. But Garland wants to hunt in the middle of the summer and in the fall. That is against our laws. So I think the best thing we can do is to pass a law giving Garland the privilege of hunting the year round, and let that pay his bill against the state."

This proposition was favorably received, and a bill giving the former senator and attorney general extra [illegible] by hunting privilege was introduced and [illegible]. Mr. Garland is now at Hickory Hill, where he forms out every day with gun and dogs, doing his best to get $2,500 worth of game out of the [illegible].

The Willard Hotel [illegible] Washington. You can see the Willard [illegible]. They own Willard's Hall [illegible] all the buildings along Ma[illegible] row, and a [illegible] number of [illegible] and [illegible] blocks. The Willards are [illegible] men. They are a strange [illegible] of stability and good pluck, and are rich enough to be able to [illegible] a good many [illegible]. Willard's hall, in which the [illegible] of 1862 were held, is now [illegible] by them. It brings [illegible] rents and [illegible] wagons, fifty of [illegible] employed.

I saw on the street [illegible] a young man [illegible] a week who once occupied a place in the highest trust and responsibility. He had charge of the door leading into one of the vaults of the treasury in which were stored hundreds of millions of dollars. He could come and go at will, and [illegible] the inner door. It was his duty to open the door at 9 o'clock in the morning. Passing [illegible] dissipation he finally [illegible] the treasury with his head [illegible] an audacious robbery that it would take him half an hour to think of the consequences, thus being able to [illegible] in [illegible] a few [illegible] of money from a bottle kept conveniently near for just such emergencies. It is needless to add that a man who carried such an important combination in his head was quickly to retain his place in the government service.

A former social queen at the capital, a woman of wide beauty and wit made her famous, was talking one recent day of Washington society of the period of her day. "There," she said, "Washington was not the [illegible] it was composed of the [illegible] men, the most brilliant. To gain entrance to this charmed circle, full membership, one had to prove his mettle. Mental dwarfs and laggards could find no entrance. [illegible] had nothing to do with it. The poorest man has just as good chance as the richest, and, what is more strange, the wife of the poor man, if he was a man of ability, could wear her head as high as the millionaire's wife, and a good deal high. If the wife [illegible] channel to be charged and stupid, as sometimes often are. Financial ability to give dinners and lunches was no mark of strength twenty-five years ago. We rarely had rich [illegible], or, if at all, of the simplest and most inexpensive sort.

"Nowadays, [illegible] the queening belle of years ago, 'terrapin' [illegible] to have to yield the place of brains."

A [illegible] of the [illegible] of representatives was recently asked which is [illegible] American [illegible]. Her draw [illegible]. Her answer was: "Noise." The great American politicians, that is, at which [illegible] play, and but few win. These [illegible] are the white ballots which fall in the box, the [illegible] and [illegible]. But there is like poker in that it is partly a [illegible], but one in which [illegible] skill and [illegible] are of more importance than luck. Like poker, it is a game of [illegible]. The man who [illegible] who cannot read faces and [illegible] cannot be a [illegible]. Nor can he win at politics. At poker, as at politics, the man with the [illegible] has an apparent advantage at the [illegible] of the game, but in the end the poor though skillful player is likely to be at the head of the game while the rich man and the money bags have been somewhere else.

All of which [illegible] like good [illegible] poker, [illegible] player than [illegible], and a good politician to hold a [illegible] seat away from a [illegible] of [illegible] the last [illegible].

An Inventive W[illegible]

BERGEN POINT, N. J., Sept. 9.—The [illegible] a good deal of ingenuity on [illegible] have contributed much to the comfort of humanity. Among the wife of a soldier in the civil war who, in answer to [illegible] of the [illegible] ships of all [illegible] the seven ground, sugar [illegible] to her husband [illegible] that [illegible] work into camp he could easily cut a [illegible] of [illegible] them in the [illegible] of four [illegible] or stakes driven into the [illegible] at the head and foot of his [illegible] bed, and then by placing [illegible] barrel staves, [illegible] or [illegible] of [illegible], and stretching an [illegible] or two of leaves, hay or [illegible] might be [illegible] at hand upon the [illegible] and covering all with his [illegible] and [illegible] he would have a bed as [illegible] and [illegible] as far above [illegible] and [illegible] as if it were of the [illegible] luxuries [illegible] at home. The [illegible] of that [illegible] newspaper [illegible] to everybody in camp, and in a little while the idea [illegible] and was utilized through all the [illegible] of the [illegible] army.

A similar [illegible] has led to the [illegible] of a [illegible] substitute in many [illegible] resorts where people have [illegible] or can't afford to carry [illegible]. I fancy that it comes from the [illegible] in the family of the same lady.

You take a clean [illegible]-three inch board of oak are the best, and hew half inch [illegible] so that [illegible] the top hoops or say four [illegible] from the ends of the staves, leaving [illegible] between the staves, so that each stave will have its half of the hole. When you have hewed between every pair of staves repeat the operation at the other end of the barrel. Then take a small rope, pass it through one hole and [illegible] through the next, around the barrel, leaving about five feet loose at the ends. Pass another rope through the same holes but on opposite sides of the staves, [illegible] [illegible] The [illegible] of the [illegible] [illegible] twenty feet.

Henry Ives' Trial

NEW YORK, September 11.—The jury in the case of Henry S. Ives was secured yesterday. The actual trial began this morning with the attorneys' statements to the jury. The indictment charges Ives as an officer issuing fraudulently $600,000 worth of stock of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton railway.

The Antwerp Explosion

ANTWERP, September 11.—Official inquiry into the explosion and conflagration is progressing in secret. It is officially denied that the cartridges which exploded in the factory contained dynamite. It is believed the explosion occurred in the factory before the petroleum of Mavolts caught fire.

A Cruel Reward

ZANZIBAR, September 11.—Captain W[illegible] has offered a reward of 50,000 pounds for the head of Chief Prabiri. This has been done in consequence of Prabiri's threat to destroy missions in the interior. The stations are not sufficiently fortified to withstand an attack.

Remarkable Stones Which Still Remain a Testimony to the Skill and Energy Exhibiting Power of Central America

[Special Corresponden[illegible]]

BROOKLYN, Sept. 9.—A certain class of travelers flock to what they call the "old world" to see antiquities, often paying very little or no attention to the fact that on this continent there is a more interesting—because more mysterious—prehistoric field of ruined cities. Many ages ago Egypt was in her prime. In there were to A[illegible] nations so advanced in arts and [illegible] as their [illegible] would lead [illegible] to infer, that in no way [illegible] they were inferior to the Egyptians or Assyrians.

A MIRROR IN STONE.

Some [illegible] have a [illegible] then that before the white man [illegible] this [illegible] continent was inhabited only by nude savages that daubed their lives with paint and stuck a few [illegible] in their hair—a most erroneous belief.

That the [illegible] were [illegible] architects, artists, is proved by what still remains of their remarkable work. Nor are we justified in asserting that they were ignorant of [illegible] which we of late years have [illegible]. Should any of our [illegible] be [illegible] today, after a few [illegible] only [illegible] of the strong [illegible] of civilization, [illegible] of the [illegible] might then say: "Yes, [illegible] left big buildings, but they were, of course, half savage, and knew [illegible] of the things we [illegible]. How [illegible] future will we would be in their opinion of us! How [illegible] we may be in judging of it? [illegible] who have [illegible] that nations are like individuals, gradually advancing to vigorous manhood, and then falling into decay.

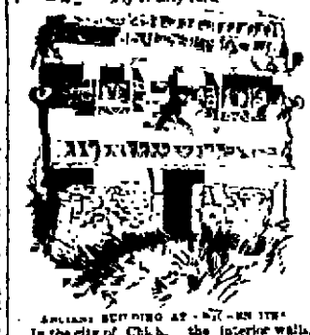
The [illegible] of Central America were undoubtedly on their downward course when the Spanish [illegible] war spread them nearly 400 years ago; but in no sense were they savages, for, as I [illegible], in many things that the world [illegible].

Palenque, Quirigua, Copan, Mitla and others were all once thickly inhabited by [illegible] of whom very little is known; the cities of their long [illegible] cities are hidden in forests, and an army of workers is needed to uncover and study [illegible].

There is no [illegible] field of [illegible] than Yucatan, the peninsula which [illegible] are—[illegible] by the same waves of the Mexican gulf and the Pacific [illegible]. The Spanish [illegible] of [illegible] that the people there [illegible] of their own. In one of part of [illegible] had they [illegible] such [illegible] of cutters, and their [illegible] was [illegible]. Nor [illegible] the Europeans [illegible] all the volumes they could lay [illegible] on [illegible] they as they [illegible] nothing [illegible] the holy Catholic religion [illegible] they ought to be [illegible] away with. A decade [illegible] of work [illegible] the [illegible] tell us [illegible] a terrible end [illegible] which [illegible] well said: "He who kills a [illegible] kills a [illegible]; but he who destroys a good [illegible] kills himself."

It is not known [illegible], or by [illegible] but four of the [illegible] were [illegible] their way to Europe [illegible] and as Dr. Le Plongeon [illegible] a key to the hieroglyphics in which they are [illegible] to the public.

There was the [illegible] of the Mayas [illegible] over the face of the earth, which is the [illegible] why we find these [illegible] Mayas in all parts of the world, and [illegible] the power in one form or another. The [illegible] with an area of [illegible] 75,000 [illegible]. At the time of the quest [illegible] was as professional as any [illegible] to the nations [illegible] well [illegible] were [illegible] the [illegible] of [illegible] and [illegible] life, as they are to us now. Within of the [illegible] of the Daily [illegible] and [illegible] are the [illegible] withstood the [illegible] of time. They [illegible] in a way that [illegible] Upon a rocky [illegible], into which [illegible] slab the [illegible] of dry [illegible] about [illegible] feet high, [illegible] with [illegible] daily [illegible]. On the solid foundation they built the [illegible] of white [illegible]. Most of the walls are three, but are nine feet [illegible]. The [illegible] [illegible] fitted that nothing can be introduced between the [illegible] part of which is [illegible] in [illegible] and the filling of the wall is simply [illegible]. The [illegible] were skillfully [illegible], covered with [illegible] and painted in bright colors, and [illegible] and signifying [illegible]. Pa[illegible] can [illegible] an idea of which [illegible]. The height of the [illegible] is only twenty feet.



ANCIENT BUILDING AT CHICHEN ITZA.

In the city of Chichen, the interior walls, finely plastered, were stuck with human [illegible] [illegible] all [illegible] in one, only all fragments remain here and [illegible]. It was a delightful [illegible] to find in one room quite a [illegible] of [illegible] clear and bright, with all their red, blue, [illegible] and yellow, and we [illegible] a [illegible] copy. This collection of twenty rabbits is the only existing specimen of [illegible] American fresco paintings; they are deeply interesting [illegible] religious rites, warfare, etc.

[illegible] of the [illegible] of stucco in the [illegible] of the [illegible] who [illegible] them there. The act of [illegible] the [illegible] in red [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] was a way of [illegible] a divine [illegible] on [illegible]. On one [illegible] [illegible] who [illegible] for us—[illegible] [illegible] of their [illegible] [illegible] of [illegible] [illegible] of [illegible] [illegible] "This [illegible] in India the [illegible] yet by [illegible] who [illegible] of fruit and [illegible] to the gods—[illegible] favor in return. They dip their [illegible] in red [illegible] and [illegible] on [illegible] so that their [illegible] and offered [illegible] may not be forgotten. The most [illegible] object on all the edifices is a [illegible] of the faces of the A[illegible] [illegible] of the Mayas [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] it was the [illegible] [illegible] they [illegible]. It is not unlikely that the [illegible] [illegible] in South America is an outgrowth of the [illegible] [illegible] were not [illegible].

T. W. SHAW [illegible]

A M[illegible] Mass[illegible] at [illegible] to-night.

The cricketers will practice on the Athletic grounds this and to-morrow afternoon. Wickets pitched at 2 p.m.

Mr. Robert J. McCurdy, who has been visiting his [illegible], Mrs. Walter Sterling, at the Heated ranch, left last evening for his home in Philadelphia.

The list of the players in the Red Stocking and High School nines, which will [illegible] on the Athletic grounds to-morrow afternoon, will be published to-morrow [illegible].

Members of the [illegible] to go to Denver on Saturday are earnestly requested to [illegible] this evening at 7:[illegible] at Wolcott hall gymnasium to arrange the details of the trip and the match with the Denver club.

Among the most desirable property now on the market are Boulder lots. Special inducements are offered to buyers in this city. Elsewhere will be found the advertisement of the company having in charge the sale of the lots.

The bright, sparkling comedy of "A Midsummer Madness," to be produced by local talent at the opera house this evening, is for the benefit of what is to be in the future a benefit to the health seeker and a credit to our fair city, the Bellevue sanitarium.

At the general meeting of the W. C. T. U. the following officers were elected: Mrs. A. F. Newton, president; Mrs. Bal[illegible], Mrs. Irvine, Mrs. Parker, Mrs. Jos. Mrs. Gemmell, Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. Erbine, vice presidents; Mrs. [illegible], recording secretary; Mrs. M. A. J. [illegible], corresponding secretary, Mrs. Irvine, treasurer.

"Hypocrisy of the love [illegible] monthly," for a practical illustration of the fact, with "A Midsummer Madness" to-night, and the fun for yourself what [illegible] and Mr. [illegible] a lot of hair [illegible] in law [illegible] and at the [illegible] the building fund of a worthy object, the Sellwood institute.

The performance of "A Midsummer Madness" at the opera house to-night [illegible] the amateur talent of the city. The play is a light [illegible] after the style of the [illegible] Fair. [illegible] by the [illegible] at which it was [illegible] to produce it. It is a set of the Midsummer [illegible], in which all [illegible] should find a kindly interest, and the members of all who take part in the [illegible] are [illegible] and generously given for the benefit of that charity. We hope that a full house will reward their efforts.

Yesterday morning at 11 o'clock the large barn on the Stinson ranch south of the city was discovered to be on fire and in a few minutes the flames, fed by the dry hay and other inflammable contents, were beyond all possible hope of control. A boy ran for help, and after [illegible] hard fighting the house, which is quite a [illegible] barn, was saved with the aid of wet blankets and water. There was a good deal of hay and grain in the barn, besides a number of valuable [illegible] implements and a valuable [illegible], all of which was totally destroyed. The loss will probably reach $6,000, with insurance of $1,500. It is not known how the fire started, but it is supposed it was caused by a spark from the chimney lodged in the hay. A wind was blowing into a [illegible] which was blowing into the barn. All the [illegible] which were in the barn was saved.

Yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock the [illegible] on the D. & R. G. [illegible] struck and instantly killed [illegible] Kutscheff, a [illegible]. Kutscheff was working on the railroad just below Pike's Peak [illegible] the place where the double track [illegible]. He stepped from the down track, to avoid a [illegible] train, on the up track just in front of the engine. The engine did all in its power to warn the man but it was too late. Kutscheff had nothing on his person [illegible] a certificate of discharge from the army, dated St. Louis, April 7, 1895. He was a member of the Scranton battery, Ohio light artillery. He was [illegible] taken to Daniel & Co.'s undertaking rooms, where an inquest will be held at 10 o'clock this morning. As yet the authorities have not been able to discover where Kutscheff owes relatives, whether he has any in this country, and it is [illegible] the G. A. R. post of the city will bury him. He was [illegible] years old.

Ex-United States District Attorney G. [illegible] of Pittsburg, Pa., arrived in the city yesterday and will remain some weeks visiting friends. Mr. Grammer came to Colorado some years ago in search of health after a severe attack of pneumonia. "My physician told me at that time," said Mr. Grammer yesterday, "that the only chance I had for life was to spend the winter, which was the approaching, in Switzerland. Colorado sunshine was not as famous then as now, but I did. I did try it in preference to Switzerland. I spent three winters in the state and in the ten years which have followed I have not missed a day on account of sickness. I predicted when here that Colorado was entering upon a period of prosperity such as, if ever, was equaled in any state in the union. I think I was right, and, if I mistake not, Colorado Springs has had a large share in the prosperity. The progress of this city has been simply wonderful. A few years ago I saw it a struggling little village, to day it is a handsome, prosperous city, and it has only just begun to grow, if I am not mistaken. I do not want to talk about politics in Pennsylvania, but will, of course, give the Republicans, but I do not know anything new politically."
